Having a child with ADHD can be challenging, exhausting and emotional. Parents face issues on a daily basis regarding this no longer hidden and misunderstood condition.

Would you like to be part of a Support Group where you can share your experiences, stories and knowledge and be supported by other parents? This group provides an opportunity to discuss struggles of life that families and their children go through everyday, with people who truly understand. Please join us for a coffee in a relaxed and non judgmental environment.

New members will receive an information pack and be supported by the support group facilitators Flora & Ann.
